

Social Activism Plush Toys

This Plush with a Purpose helps spread awareness of the anti-racism message and helps parents educate, encourage and inspire their children to be part of a new generation of change. A cute plush bear designed to help promote knowledge and understanding as well as raise funds for anti-racism organizations.

For many brands and businesses it is important to show their support and solidarity to the LGBT community, particularly during pride month. And even though many pride events were cancelled in 2020, companies still showed their pride with these colorful plush bears. Virtual events were able to raise funds and send a hug to their participants

With the increase in environmental awareness, companies want ways to promote their brand with eco-friendly products from socially responsible companies. This Eco plush toy appealed to a marine conservation group raising money to support real-life sea turtles and create awareness of the effects of plastic pollution. ECO friendly plush toys are made from 100% recycled fabrics with 100% recycled polyester fill and shipped in 100% recycled cardboard boxes.

Cute plush toys are always ideal as fundraisers as they have a high rate of retention and keep the message top of mind. The sale of Eleanor Elephant supports organizations working to save elephants and raise awareness to stop elephant poaching for ivory.
