Everybody loves a plushie! And dance studios know that giving dancers a cute plush toy as a registration gift, branded with their logo, will get everyone talking about the studio.

For a great fundraiser, an adorable soft toy that a dancer can hug to sleep at night – a loveable plush animal or dancer in a tutu.

Stop monkeying around and raise some money! With many clubs struggling because of COVID 19 they are looking for effective ways to replace lost revenue from not having "in person" events. Plush toys make the best fundraisers. They are very appealing and people are very willing to support a club trying to raise money by purchasing a cute stuffed animal to take home.

A fun branded plush toy is a great way to motivate students before a big performance or competition. And the event can also sell this merchandise to parents and fans to raise money. Or as a memento of the event. As so many events were cancelled in 2020, when events start to take place again, participants will want a keepsake.

Having a mascot is a great marketing tool and wonderful for brand recognition. Mascots lend themselves to the creation of stuffed animals perfectly and increase brand awareness even more.

Fun to sell at a team or on-line store. People love to take something home from an event. Or collect as team memorabilia.

Colleges, Universities and Professional Sports teams all realize the benefits of plush mascots to strengthen brand recognition and brand awareness.

Plush mascots are all unanimously considered cute and can help grow a brand's presence on social media. Improve customer engagement and encourage fans to take selfies with the mascot; at the same time encouraging others to purchase one.

Golf is a universal game, even among pro athletes, and as other sports wind down, they grab their clubs and hit the course. Custom team golf head covers allow them, and their fans, to take their team pride on to the fairway.
